We measure
Our success by your success

If you're curious about what happens after graduation, want to know how your skill set fits into the career path you want, or learn what you can do now to start paving your way to a successful future, the Career Development department is here to support you. Learn more about how our services can assist you at any point during your journey at Full Sail and beyond.

During Your Degree

GPS – Global Professional Standard

Career development is built directly into the Full Sail curriculum. Our educators created the Global Professionalism Standard (GPS), which tracks your approach to your education, behavior in class, and participation in the Full Sail community. Having a high GPS score attached to your résumé says a lot about your ability to conduct yourself professionally in a creative environment.

Dedicated Advisors

The Advisor Team consists of degree-specific professionals who have worked in your prospective industry. They offer invaluable professional insights and career advice.

Industry Outreach and Research

From day one, you will have access to an extensive library of industry-focused materials that will provide the first vital step in finding employment. The Career Development team stays updated on these ever-evolving fields and can help you find the most relevant websites, networks, and resources suited for your interest and focus.

In addition to bringing you guest speakers, our Industry Outreach team maintains relationships with employers to gain insight into the offerings of Full Sail University and the capabilities of our students and graduates.

Here are just a few of the companies who have visited Full Sail University to provide career guidance to our students:

Volition

Bunim-Murray

LucasArts

CBS Radio

Native
Instruments

Sony
Imageworks

ABC Disney

WWE

Activision

Before You Graduate

Employment Strategy

Prior to graduation, you will develop a multifaceted employment strategy through one-on-one appointments with your industry-specific advisor. This includes structuring introductory calls, developing materials (cover letters and résumés), conducting practice interviews, and focusing all your available efforts on finding a position.

Connect with Full Sail Grads

Through the Alumni Network site, you will be given the opportunity to network with and ask advice from fellow Full Sail grads. Additionally, you will have access to employment opportunities, notification of regional events, listings of resources, and much more.

Career Modules

Through each degree's integrated career modules, students continue their professional development during their courses and as they create their portfolio. Bachelor's degree students will take a total of seven modules covering topics such as personal branding, career research, networking, and more.

After You Graduate

Career Opportunities

Employers regularly reach out to us requesting assistance in finding the right Full Sail graduate for a particular position. Over the years, we've responded to thousands of these calls and have assisted Full Sail graduates around the world in pursuing their careers.

Your Full Sail Connection

Full Sail's Career Development department will be available throughout your career, keeping you up to speed as trends come and go and the professional landscape evolves.

The Alumni Division

The Alumni Division hosts on-site visits and lectures, sponsors events, maintains an online community, and supports our graduates throughout the duration of their careers. Full Sail alumni events happen throughout the year all over the country, giving grads from all degree programs the opportunity to catch up with classmates and build their networks.

Our grads have been employed by the following companies and more:

NFL Films Nickelodeon Universal Studios Miramax
HBO Studios Rockstar Games Hit Factory Studio
Cirque du Soleil MTV Disney WWE
Blizzard Entertainment ESPN Pixar Bunim Murray
DreamWorks CNN Industrial Light & Magic HSN
